This Demand Letter is served pursuant to Massachusetts General Laws Chapter 93A §2 and §11 to DoorDash, Inc. ("DoorDash") advising it of violations of state and federal statutes governing the rights of Legals to certain trademarks and related signs, symbols and other marks (hereinafter collectively referred to as "Legals' Trademarks"). Legals seeks damages for DoorDash's unfair and deceptive trade practices as set forth herein and for a second time it demands that DoorDash immediately cease and desist from using Legals' Trademarks for any purpose.

Factual Background and Claims.

Legals first opened in 1950 as a fish market in the Inman Square neighborhood of Cambridge, Massachusetts. The "Legal" name quickly became synonymous with quality and freshness. Legals' website provides, in part, its history as follows:

Tony Xu, CEO
National Registered Agents, Inc.
January 7, 2016

In 1968, the Berkowitz family opened its first seafood restaurant, right next to the fish market. The fish was simply prepared, either broiled or fried, and served on paper plates at communal picnic tables. Despite the low-key trappings, the food was second to none and word quickly spread. This early success led to further expansion and now, six decades later with restaurants along the Eastern Seaboard, the family philosophy endures: Legal Sea Foods is a fish company in the restaurant business. . . . George's son, Roger, has been at the helm since 1992 and has expanded the business into new markets while maintaining the company's focus on its proud tradition and core values. So when we say, "If it isn't fresh, it isn't Legal!," we renew a commitment that has sustained us for over a half-century.

Legals is also an acclaimed restaurant as evidenced by the following awards and recognitions:

- Most Admired Brand and Readers' Choice: Boston Business Journal 2014
"The Most Admired program is extremely competitive. You can imagine the criteria that filtered through voters' minds as they filled in the blanks: the quality of the companies products; their track records as corporate citizens; and their roles in defining and reshaping the local economy. In a place with as many great companies, executives and brands as Boston, reaching the top of a "most admired" list is no small thing. In truth, few places in the U.S. have the ability to match the branding power of a Dunkin' Donuts, the Boston Red Sox and Legal Sea Foods. And its no exaggeration to say that all three brands could be part of a typical day for a Bostonian: A coffee at Dunks on the way to Fenway Park, and after the game dinner at Legal's."
- Best Seafood Restaurant" - USA Today, 2013. "Legal Sea Foods claws its way to the top! The votes are in and seafood-loving readers have chosen their favorite place to savor the flavors of the sea. 'If it isn't fresh, it isn't Legal' is the slogan at this popular chain - stretching from Florida to Massachusetts - which has its own waterfront purity lab that inspects every delivery. Famed for its thick and bipartisan New England clam chowder, which has been served at the Presidential Inaugurations of all five presidents since Ronald Reagan in 1981, it also has a huge menu of every sorts of seafood dish." – USA Today (emphasis added)
- "Best U.S. Airport Food" - USA Today, 2013. Legal Sea Foods (Boston Logan International Airport) Named a winner in the 10 Best Readers' Choice Awards for "Best U.S. Airport Food."
- "31 Best Airport Restaurants Around the World" - USA Today, 2012. The Daily Meal's list of the 31 best airport restaurants around the world was carefully curated through a six-month-long nomination process. Restaurants were judged in two categories: cuisine and style/décor/service. From innovative menu options to plating and presentation to freshness, quality, and taste, The Daily Meal evaluated each restaurant's cuisine and only included the restaurants that were deemed to be extraordinary. For the second category, panelists evaluated the dining experience, from the restaurant's interior and dining-room ambiance to the service, voting for the restaurants that offer an unrivaled experience. From Miami to Munich and Seattle to Singapore, there are dozens of outstanding airport restaurants, many a destination in their own right." - USA Today

As a result of receiving customer complaints about DoorDash, Legals became aware that DoorDash had been using its trademarks, increasing its menu prices and holding itself out as a delivery service for Legals. On December 7, 2015, Legals notified DoorDash by certified letter of its unfair and deceptive practice of using Legals' Trademarks to lure customers to its website under the pretext that (a) DoorDash is an authorized agent of Legals, (b) Legals is Merchant Partner of DoorDash, (c) Legals approved the restaurant menu pricing on DoorDash's website, (d) DoorDash is properly licensed to deliver food products and goods to customers, and (e) Legals authorized DoorDash to make deliveries of food products and goods on its behalf. A copy of the Cease and Desist Letter to DoorDash and its CEO, Tony Xu, dated December 7, 2015 is attached hereto as Exhibit 3. In the December 7th letter, Legals demanded that DoorDash cease and desist immediately this unfair and deceptive activity. DoorDash has failed and refuses to (a) respond to the Cease and Desist Letter and (b) to stop its unfair and deceptive practices. DoorDash's deceptive practice of posting Legals' Restaurant Menus on its website continues as evidenced by the screen shot of DoorDash's website dated January 7, 2016 and is attached hereto as Exhibit 4.

DoorDash is a start-up delivery service and incorporated as a Delaware corporation on May 21, 2013, and registered as a foreign corporation in Massachusetts on the same day. Legals operates twenty-five (25) restaurants alone in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Published reports state that less than two (2) years after incorporation, DoorDash raised $40 million dollars (Series B funding) based upon a company valuation of $600,000 million dollars. It is reasonable to infer that DoorDash's valuation is based, in part, on its ability to provide delivery services for restaurants such as Legals. In a recent video posted on-line, the CEO of DoorDash confesses that the company makes a profit from the commission agreement with restaurants and that the drivers are paid the delivery fee plus any tips. Thus, DoorDash only makes money based upon its relationship with the restaurants. Accordingly, it is also reasonable to infer that DoorDash is and has been benefiting financially by using the trademarks and service marks of Legals, which has built a stellar reputation over the last 50 years as one of the world's premier seafood companies and restaurants.

To generate its valuation, attract investors, and make a profit, DoorDash's business model offers customers a list of restaurant menus plus a means to order meals and have them delivered to their door. To purchase food products and goods from a restaurant, customers provide DoorDash with a debit or credit card for payment. Customers then place an order

National Registered Agents, Inc.

through DoorDash and make the required payment but they do not directly order from or pay the restaurants. Customers falsely assume that DoorDash has a relationship with all Merchant Restaurants because they appear on DoorDash's website, and DoorDash provides a delivery service.

In some instances, DoorDash makes a concerted effort not to notify the Merchant Restaurants that a purchase is being made via DoorDash's website or phone app. Recent reports suggest that DoorDash's training video specifically instructs delivery drivers not to use the name "DoorDash" when picking up orders from restaurants that are not Merchant Partners. The drivers are further advised to not show or provide the restaurant receipt to the customer. DoorDash does not want the customer to know that it is charging the customer more for certain food products and goods than the restaurant.

DoorDash's posting of Legals' Restaurant Menus on its website actively and intentionally misrepresents to customers that DoorDash has a food products and goods delivery agreement with Legals. Consistent with its business practice, after customers pay DoorDash directly for Legals' food products and goods meals, DoorDash then places the same order with Legals. DoorDash pays Legals directly for the order and picks up the food products and goods for delivery to the customer. However, Legals does not have nor did it ever have a Merchant Partner agreement with DoorDash. Legals has never agreed to permit DoorDash to (a) list Legals as a Merchant Partner on its website and (b) represent to Legals' customers that DoorDash is an approved delivery service. To get around the fact that Legals is not a Merchant Partner and to earn a "commission [its only source of revenue per transaction]," DoorDash intentionally, deceptively, and by design increases the prices of food products on Legal's Restaurant menus, pockets the spread, and passes the increased cost onto the customer. This unfair and deceptive acts and conduct is a pattern of activity and behavior of DoorDash and is by no means an isolated incident. On November 6, 2015, In-N-Out Burgers filed suit against DoorDash in federal court in California on nearly identical claims of DoorDash hold itself out as an approved delivery service. A copy of the In-N-Out Docket Sheet is attached hereto as Exhibit 5.

In addition to the infringement of Legals' Trademarks and noted customer misrepresentations, DoorDash is putting Legals at risk for claims by customers relating to the quality of its food products. Legal has no control over DoorDash's operations including (a) how its food products are being cared for during the delivery process; (b) how long it takes for DoorDash to make a delivery; or (c) whether DoorDash regularly complies with all applicable health and sanitary codes. DoorDash puts Legals at risk for customer complaints and claims of food contamination and/or spoliation, and related illnesses, which would substantially damage Legals' reputation and standing in the restaurant business, and could result in irreparable damages and financial loss.

Chapter 93A "was designed to encourage more equitable behavior in the marketplace and impose liability on persons seeking to profit from unfair practices." Arthur D. Little, Inc. v. Dooyang Corp., 147 F.3d 47, 55 (1st Cir. 1998) (quoting Linkage Corp. v. Trustees of Boston Univ., 425 Mass. 1, 25 (1997)). Chapter 93A prohibits all unfair or deceptive acts or practices.

Tony Xu, CEO
National Registered Agents, Inc.

Although courts frequently merge the concepts of unfairness and deception, liability may be based solely on unfairness or deception. See Commonwealth v. Fremont Inv. & Loan, 452 Mass. 733, 742–43 (2008); “[U]nfair or deceptive conduct is best discerned ‘from the circumstances of each case.’” Kattar v. Demoulas, 433 Mass. 1, 14 (2000) (quoting Commonwealth v. DeCotis, 366 Mass. 234, 242 (1974)). The Supreme Judicial Court has also held that the existence of an industry-wide practice would not constitute a defense to conduct considered unlawful under G.L. c.93A. Commonwealth v. DeCotis, 366 Mass. 234, 240 (1974). See also Therrien v. Resource Financial Group, Inc., 704 F. Supp. 322, 329 (D.N.H. 1989).

DoorDash’s acts and conduct including its knowingly and intentionally (i) misappropriating Legals’ Trademarks for its financial gain, (ii) misleading Legals’ consumers by using Legals’ Restaurant Menus and artificially increasing prices, and (iii) causing damage to Legals’ business reputation are each separate, unfair and deceptive acts and practices as defined by Chapter 93A.

On information and belief, DoorDash has been doing business in Massachusetts since its inception in 2013. It has also unlawfully used Legals’ Trademarks to generate revenue and a business valuation of $600,000 million in less than two years. It is fair to assume that a portion of that business value is attributed to its use of Legals’ Trademarks and artificial increase of food products prices on Legals Restaurant Menus. Legals demands payment from DoorDash of monetary damages in the sum of $1,000,000 million dollars. Legals further demands that DoorDash (a) cease and desist the practice of using Legals’ Trademarks and other unfair acts and practices as described herein, (b) remove Legals Trademarks from its website, (c) remove the Legal Restaurant Menus from its website, (d) disgorge all profit from the re-sale of Legals’ food products and goods, and (e) that DoorDash enter into a written agreement memorializing this understanding. Under the provisions of Section 11, Chapter 93A, we are providing you with the opportunity to make a written offer of settlement of these claims within thirty (30) days. If you fail to make a good faith offer of settlement in response to this request within the time permitted, Legals will institute a legal action seeking an award of double or triple damages in addition to attorney’s fees and costs.

Very truly yours,

E. Macey Russell

Re: Infringement of the Trademark and Related Signs, Symbols and Marks of Legal Sea Foods, LLC (the "Company")

Dear Mr. Xu:

Please be advised that I am Senior Vice President and General Counsel of Legal Sea Foods, LLC (the "Company"); and it has come to my attention that you have used the Company's logo and menu without the express permission of the Company.

The Company has originated and developed a proprietary system for the operation of seafood restaurants, seafood markets and related businesses and possesses copyrights, patents, and trademarks for designs, trade names, signs, insignias, symbols, and slogans employed in the operation of its businesses. The United States Patent and Trademark Office has granted federal trademark registration to Legal Sea Foods for its trademark name and related signs, symbols, and marks. Those signs, symbols, and marks have become uniquely associated with and identify the Company. Among the signs, symbols and marks of the Company granted trademark protection is the logo used on your website (the "Logo").

DoorDash's use of the Logo and menu on its website creates an inference that DoorDash's services are provided on behalf of, and in partnership with, the Company, and takes advantage of the goodwill associated with the Company's name, menu, and Logo. Moreover, the menu appearing on the DoorDash website inflates the pricing and clearly misrepresents the offerings to our guests.

Unless DoorDash agrees to immediately cease and desist from further use of the Logo and menu on its website, the Company will consider itself at liberty to institute legal proceedings against DoorDash and seek both injunctive relief against, and monetary damages from DoorDash. Please advise me in writing of your intentions no later than December 21, 2015.

I sincerely hope that you will voluntarily agree to cease and desist from further use of the Logo and menu. I look forward to, and anticipate, your prompt response.

Sincerely,

Richard Heller
